Guidelines for the Types of Projects that May be Eligible for Financial Support

The following types of projects may be eligible for financial support and endorsement by the Task Force for International Cooperation on Holocaust Education, Remembrance, and Research (ITF). These guidelines are for informational purposes only and should not be construed as a guarantee of support. All project proposals must be submitted in accordance with the ITF mission and specific procedures. For detailed information on submitting proposals for consideration, please contact the ITF Project Coordinator:

Generally, projects eligible for financial support include:

- Those from institutions and organisations located in regions or countries where Holocaust education, remembrance, and research face severe resource constraints. While emphasis is given to Eastern and Central European countries, the ITF will support meritorious projects in other regions.
- Those that are bilateral or multilateral, as it is an objective of the ITF to further Holocaust education, remembrance, and research by stimulating the international exchange of expertise and fostering international dialogue.

Examples of projects eligible for support include:

Education

- Teacher training seminars
- Training seminars for student-teachers
- Training seminars for student-journalists
- Publication and/or translation of educational leaflets, brochures, and similar texts
- Creation and development of educational Web sites
- Historic exhibitions for teaching purposes
- Student essay-writing projects
- Student film projects
- Student theatre projects

- Art projects with an explicit and articulated educational purpose (traveling exhibitions of either an educational or historic nature are particularly encouraged)

Remembrance

- Collection of information on memorials (e.g., databases, catalogues)
- Creation and dissemination of information about memorial sites (e.g., Web sites, networks, published documentary reference sources)
- Collection of reclaimed and catalogued data about individuals, families, communities, and geographical sites
- Preservation of memorial sites (emergency funding only)
- Promoting best practices for memorial sites
- Exhibitions

Research

- Translation and/or publication of scholarly books
- Organisation of university-level Holocaust studies programs/courses
- Documentary films
- Archival organisation and access

While there are many worthwhile and important efforts taking place, the ITF is unable to provide financial support for the following types of projects:

- Those in which the major beneficiaries are citizens of countries or regions that do not face resource constraints with regard to Holocaust education and research
- Commemoration and observance ceremonies
- Non-academic conferences
- Literary works, theater, and fine and plastic arts productions that do not have an articulated educational purpose
- Capital projects or physical construction of memorials

Please contact the ITF Project Coordinator with any questions or concerns you may have about the types of projects that may be eligible for support from the ITF.
